SOURCE:  ENTRANCE:

General CHIRNOAGA gave his viewpoint which brought to light some confusing matters: He believed in the "Chirnoaga case" until he made contact with General RADESCU. All that RADESCU gave him was a verbal mandate - "to consider himself as head of the National Army in Austria and Germany." He maintains this position even today. . .

CHIRNOAGA admits that General RADESCU sent him in Austria 6,000 dollars - "for the aid of those in need and for maintaining contact with Rumania." . . . General GHEORGHE also received a mandate from RADESCU, to act as a coordinator of Rumanian activities in the Occupation Zones. A "mandate" was also given to Major MAFTEI to be RADESCU's military representative in Austria and also to act as a contact with Rumania. General RADESCU gave out a large number of mandates in France to civilians and military persons - this of course cost MALAXA. From this mass of mandates there developed a violent fight between GHEORGHE and CHIRNOAGA. . .

In regard to the formation of the National Committee, there are many versions, explosions, preoccupations, agitations, telephone calls-- and General RADESCU has already given orders to the "Limogari." Today unexpectedly I had a visit from Colonel IVANOVICI who brought to me an order issued by General RADESCU. RADESCU's letter said,  must be excluded from all military combinations because he is a National-Peasant." If General
